I know we have been having quite a bit of rain but this is one of the concerns I have with this DeKalb case. According to this citizen, the county spent 6 months doing repairs in the area and the issue has not been resolved. (b) (6)

That been said, can someone at EPD please follow up. I will be reaching out to her as well.

Thanks

Mr. Richard,

I received your contact information from Valerie Nowell. We are residents on Green Street in Decatur, GA 30030 who have been experiencing years of sewage overflows with storms. We have been told that we are the second worst site in DeKalb county. The county just spent 6 months on repairs, pipe replacement and enlargement in order to solve the problem. However, we had a massive spill last night, even with the repairs and replacements.

Spills were at both the green Street @ S. McDonough end as well as the Green Street on the PATH Foundation portion closer to Candler.

Obviously this is totally unacceptable.

I would really appreciate speaking with you, to help us understand how to move forward.

Thank you.

Mr. Horton,

Attached is a video of an additional overflow location on the eastern end of the path on Green Street. The main is located on the path towards Candler near to chick coop. This main has also gone through recent restoration repair.

thank you,

Hi Mr. Horton,

I was told to email you pictures or a video of the overflow that was called in last night and not checked. The overflow happened on the paved portion of green street (not gravel road) between South McDonough and the bridge. This main is across from the covered carport on the paved portion of Green Street. This main was included in the recent watershed restoration repair.

Thank you,

Thanks. I called it in. I just wanted you to know. Also the cap by the chicken coop on the path is overflowing too.

The sewer is over flowing again on the paved portion of green street.
I am calling in the county.
